

2d MAW COMMANDING GENERAL'S UNIT, PERSONAL AND FAMILY READINESS POLICY

Marines, Sailors, and Family Members,

Unit, Personal and Family Readiness directly affects the mission of 2d Marine Aircraft Wing. All of us are integral to the team and each of us must maintain a high state of readiness to enhance the ability of the Wing to successfully complete each mission assigned by higher headquarters. I encourage you to be a part of a force in ready by taking proactive measures to increase your and your family's readiness.

I take personal ownership of the Unit, Personal and Family Readiness Program and challenge each of you to prepare yourself and your families by empowering them with the knowledge and skills to adapt to and overcome the unique obstacles associated with military life. Our Corps takes great strides to provide resources and information to educate, train, and prepare us and our families so that the operational effectiveness of 2d Marine Aircraft Wing remains high. We will use every available resource to increase Marine total fitness.

One of the best resources you and your families have is your unit's Family Readiness Officer (FRO). Your FRO is the resident expert and will professionally manage the four pillars of the family readiness program: Official Communication, Readiness and Deployment Support, Information and Referral, and Volunteer Management. Your unit's FRO and Family Readiness Command Team are charged with providing the support you require to enhance your readiness. However, you, the Marine or Sailor, is ultimately responsible for your personal and your family's readiness.

My intent is to support you and your family in every way possible. I will do that by having a 2d Marine Aircraft Wing Unit, Personal and Family Readiness Program that is sought out for its proactive communication, precise and timely referral to supporting agencies, and cooperative partnerships to provide effective readiness and deployment support. Additionally, we will fully support and encourage volunteers in the family readiness program. We will take care of our Marines, Sailors, and families.

Thank you for your commitment to enhanced unit, personal and family readiness in 2d Marine Aircraft Wing. I am constantly aware of your dedication and professionalism and ask you to join me in making our team stronger with your full support of family readiness. Semper Fidelis!

GLENN M. WALTERS
COMMANDING GENERAL
2D MARINE AIRCRAFT WING